People-pleasing Pollyhymnia will do anything to get into the circus. She brazenly reinvents eight iconic circus acts including: The Two-Headed Lady, The High-Wired Act and The Bittersweet Bearded Lady. Secret theories, mysteries and Leonard Cohen are just a few of Pollyhymnia's passions as she finds her way through song, memories and sheer determination.

Reviews:

"With a booming voice and a rocking bod, Sarah Hayward is a master of the small stage. Her solo theatrical cabaret about a woman auditioning to be [eight] different circus acts enchants the audience with its spunk and skill." - EG Anderson, Monday Magazine, Victoria

"(It's about) stripes and cracks – in clothing, in voice, in personality, in life and career . . . a wonderful example of what Fringe theatre, in its boundlessness, can be." – Todd Babiak - Edmonton Journal

"... this elegantly staged production showcase's Sarah Hayward's pure talent . . . dazzling."

– EYE Magazine, Toronto

"The show's defining moment, which hangs like a suspended breath, is her juggler . . . It's transcendent and illuminating . . ." Eva Marie Clarke, See Magazine, Edmonton
